

3.2.1 Using the Share Screen

Share screen features allow you to add sites and invite users to access your study.

You can access the Share screen from either the My Studies screen, Study Designer, or the Settings screen.

The Share button is on the bottom of the study card on the My Studies screen. Select Test or Production to share your study.

The screenshot shows a study card for "New Cancer Drug". At the top, it says "New Cancer Drug" in large text. Below that, there are two status indicators: a green circle followed by "AVAILABLE in test" and a grey circle with a slash followed by "UNPUBLISHED in production". The main body of the card contains a description: "This study tests a newly developed drug that is intended to shrink malignant tumors." Below the description, there are several key-value pairs: "Study ID: NewCancerDrug", "Study Type: Interventional, Phase I", "Expected Enrollment: 100", and "Expected Duration: 26-Aug-2019 to 30-Aug-2020". At the bottom of the card, there is a navigation bar with three buttons: a settings gear icon, a "Design" button, and a "Share" button. The "Share" button is highlighted with a red rectangular box. Below the navigation bar is a "Go" button with a dropdown arrow.

The Share button is also in the header bar in Study Designer. Select Test or Production to share your study.

Approved for publication by Kerry Tamm. Signed on 2020-12-15 9:02AM

Not valid unless obtained from the OpenClinica document management system on the day of use.