5.2.6 Administration Module - Permissions

To access the Administration module, your User Type must be "business administrator" or "technical administrator." You can access all the features in the Administration module no matter what your user Role is. For more about Administration module permissions, see User Types.

For information about features in the module, see Administration.

This page is not approved for publication.